PHARMACY SHIFT Study: Welcome to the PHARMACY SHIFT Study by Imperial College London Self-Care Academic Research Unit (SCARU).

The aim of this study is to explore the role of pharmacists in supporting patient self-care. This includes the use of over-the-counter (OTC) medicines, lifestyle changes, self-monitoring tools & digital health resources (e.g., NHS App, symptom checkers, health apps).

The aim is to understand better the services pharmacists provide, the challenges they face & opportunities to enhance pharmacy-based delivery of self-care information, products & services.

Imperial will be collecting data from around the world using an anonymous survey (available in 11 languages):

https://imperial.eu.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_cB0jaK3C6xh7HQa

The survey will take approximately 10 minutes to complete. All responses are anonymous & confidential & no identifiable information will be collected. For more details, please refer to the Participant Information Sheet.

Thank you for your valuable contribution to this important research.
